

Year 10 English

at the senior campus

English matters!

So, the awkward thing is... you have to do English!

I don't say so - the government says so -_(ツ)_/-

MUST do one of these

Prerequisite (compulsory) English options:

- English
- Foundation English
- Extension English

'Because you love it' additional English:

- English Literature

CAN do this as well

What's the difference?

The prerequisite English options are very similar, but there are some key differences in how you will learn. They ALL lead towards VCE and VM English

English

Same books /
areas of study

Standard level of support

Foundation

Same books /
areas of study

Extra scaffolds and support to reach outcomes

Extension

Same books /
areas of study

Extra extension & push to achieve top results

What's English Literature about?

- Literature helps you to understand:
 - the different ways texts are constructed and how authors create meaning with language & structure.
 - the historical and social context of the author, and how it can affect the texts they create.
- We read a LOT more books in Literature, and it's expected that you read over the holidays and in your own time.
- VCE (year 11-12) has a Literature subject, and doing it in Year 10 will help you get the foundation you need

If you want to sign up:

Year 10 Literature runs in semester 1, then Year 10 Literature Extension runs in semester 2.

- This means you can do Lit for the whole year if you want!
- OR just have a 'taste' of it in sem 1 and chose something new sem 2

IMPORTANT

Literature is an English Elective, students must still complete English as part of the Year 10 program
